March 18, 2021
Dear Governor Abbott, Lieutenant Governor Patrick, Speaker Phelan, and legislators,

The COVID-19 pandemic has put a spotlight on the state’s broadband and digital connectivity challenges. It forced millions of Texans to rely on their internet connection for pediatric visits, virtual school, workforce training, job interviews, court hearings, mental health services, and more. In some cases, supports for children, families, and individuals were strengthened by the expansion of online services. However, individuals who did not already have broadband access, digital skills, or access to digital devices were left behind.

As we know, Texas is one of only six states with no state broadband plan. We appreciate Governor Abbott and state leaders making the creation of a Broadband Office and a priority this legislative session. We also applaud current efforts by the Texas legislature to address the infrastructure gap that has prevented many communities from accessing broadband internet. Those efforts are important as part of a comprehensive effort to close the digital divide. In addition, we encourage state leaders to consider addressing issues such as digital access and readiness, which disproportionately impact vulnerable communities, as efforts to close the digital divide are pursued.

This session, we call on state leaders to go beyond infrastructure and ensure legislation addresses digital access, education, and readiness.
